TO: Ms. Al-Tartir:

I am writing to you in regard to your October 1, 2014 letter to Dean Washington, the SGA Attorney General, in which you expressed concerns about the proposed sanctions against

Your letter has allowed me the opportunity to review the proposed sanctions set forth. The SGA recognize that persons and organizations on the University's campus have the right to express their views and that those who disagree with those views have a right to express their contrary views.

Upon examination of this matter, and after discussion with the SGA's legal counsel, we believe that there is an insufficient basis to sanction SJP in such a degree for distribution of the subject pamphlet. As such, no sanctions will be imposed and the letter has been rescinded.

As part of a community on a college campus where students live and congregate in close proximity, we feel it is important to work with one another and understand each other's perspectives. On behalf of the SGA, we look forward to working together in the future.

Respectfully,

Kristen M. Burk
