Subject: office door

Kerry,

Please remove your Friedrich Nietzsche quote off of your office door.

Per Mark Discussing such topics in class is permissible when the discussion topic is appropriately a part of the course material being discussed. (i.e., teaching a class on moral philosophies.) This is full freedom in the classroom using the subject which he teaches." Simply posting a cartoon or note on a door be considered offensive, insightful, and/or controversial is not a part of c freedom and does not reflect well on Temple College and has the potential creating a hostile or intimidating learning/work environment
