Dear Mr. Bonilla:

I am responding on behalf of Dr. Gogue to your letter dated December 9, 2011 regarding Auburn University student, Eric Philips, and a banner that was displayed in his residence hall window. The following policy, noted in your letter is listed in Auburn University's Guide to Residential Living:

1.4 Decorations

1.4.1 Hanging Items: The use of products (nails, screws, glue, duct tape, double sided tape, etc.) which will damage walls (i.e. create holes, peel off paint or leave behind residue) is prohibited.

1.4.2 Painting: Painting of university property is prohibited.

1.4.3 Shelf Paper: The use of adhesive-backed shelf paper is prohibited.

1.4.4 Doors: The removal or cutting of doors for any purpose is prohibited.

1.4.5 Windows: Hanging or displaying items such as flags, banners, decals, or signs out of or

1.4.6 Alcoholic Beverage Containers: The use of alcohol beverage containers (any type) as displays is prohibited.

1.4.7 Holiday Decorations: The use of natural cut trees, branches, or greens is prohibited. Failure to disconnect all electrified decorations prior to leaving for semester break is prohibited.

The policy regarding a total ban was implemented this academic year and enforcement is ongoing.

We are committed to the consistent and non-discriminatory enforcement of this policy and will address this matter directly with Mr. Philips along with all residents when school resumes this spring.

Sincerely,

Amy Hecht
Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs
